

COOPERATIVE EDUCATION PROGRAM

Cooperative education (co-op) is a structured educational strategy integrating classroom studies with learning through productive paid work experiences in a field related to the student's academic or career goals. It provides progressive experiences in integrating theory and practice. Co-op brings together the university, the business and professional community, and students in a collaborative effort with specified responsibilities for each party. Academic credit is not awarded for participation in the cooperative education program, unless coordinated and approved by the academic department. A pass/fail notation is entered on the transcript upon completion of the semester's work experience.

To qualify for cooperative education, a student must meet the following qualifications¹:

1. The student must satisfactorily complete a minimum of 24 semester hours prior to entering the program. Employers may suggest a lower minimum hour requirement.
2. The student must meet and maintain a 2.50 (4.00 scale) grade point average. Employers may establish higher GPA requirements.
3. The student must have the recommendation of 2 JSU professors.
4. The student must have approval from the department head of their major.

To be considered for a co-op position, a student must apply for the position and follow through on the required selection process, typically to include an interview. Upon approval of the department, career advisor, and employer, the student will register for the appropriate alternating or parallel cooperative education course.

To learn more about the Cooperative Education Program, a student should contact the dean's office of the student's major to be directed to the career advisor: Arts, Humanities, and Sciences (256) 782-5485, Business and Industry (256) 782-5382, Education and Professional Studies (256) 782-5485; Health Professions and Wellness (256) 782-8465, and Social and Behavioral Sciences (256) 782-8465.

¹ Some programs/majors may have more stringent requirements than university policy.
