Because of limited resources, eligibility for the program is competitive; all students who qualify may not be selected. Students must comply with all Department of Nursing policies for entrance into and continuation in the nursing program, which include, but are not limited to, a clear criminal background check and drug screen.

The student is advised to review qualifications for licensure as well as grounds for denial of licensure before beginning the nursing major. Qualifications for RN licensure by examination in Alabama include:

- high school graduation or the equivalent, as determined by the Board
- good moral character
- successful completion of requirements for graduation from a Board-approved registered nurse program.

While an applicant may meet the above qualifications, final approval to take the licensure examination and become licensed in Alabama is subject to action by the Board of Nursing.
